

KOSTA BODA
SWEDEN

Kosta är Sveriges äldsta glasbruk.
Det grundades 1742 av två drabanter till Karl XII.
Deras namn var Anders Koskull och
Georg Bogislaus Stael von Holstein.
Sitt namn fick glasbruket av de första
stavelserna i grundarnas efternamn.

Än idag finns hantverket kvar i samma
form som på den gamla tiden.

Kosta är ett av de få glasbruk i världen
där alla glaskonstens hantverksgrenar utövas.

Gamla metoder som slipning, gravering
och etsning blandas med nya modernare.

Allt sedan starten har Kostas historia varit förknippad med skickliga hantverkare
och talangfulla konstnärer.

I hyttan arbetar mästarna sida vid sida
med formgivarna. Det är detta gemensamma skapande som gett Kosta dess rykte världen över.
Och som fått inte bara svenska kungar,
utan också statsmän och kungligheter från hela världen
att välja glashantverk från bruket djupt inne
i de småländska skogarna.

Kosta is the oldest glassworks in Sweden.
It was established in 1742 by two officers of the Life Guard of King Karl XII.

Their names were Anders Koskull and Georg Bogislaus Stael von Holstein, and the name of the glassworks consists of the initial syllables of their surnames.

The craftsmanship of two centuries ago lives on in the same form today.

Kosta is one of the few glassworks in the world where all the crafts of the glassmaker's art are still practiced.

Older techniques such as grinding, engraving and etching
are combined with new, modern ones.

From the very beginning, glassmaking at Kosta
has been intimately associated with skillful craftsmen
and gifted artists.

Designers and master craftsmen work side by side in the glasshouse. This joint creativity has given the Kosta glassworks a world-wide reputation.
And it is the reason why not only the kings of Sweden,
but statesmen and royalty throughout the world
choose glass handicraft from the glassworks that lies deep in the Swedish forest.

Boda. Förnyelsens glasbruk.

Det startades 1864 av några skickliga glasblåsare på Kosta som flyttade ut för att bli sina egna herrar.

I nära hundra år var Boda ett bruk bland många
som tillverkade konventionella serviser
för hem och restauranger.

Sedan blåste plötsligt en förnyelsens stormvind
genom bruket.

Unga, djärva formgivare slog till
så att det klirrade i kristallen och Boda förvandlades
med en gång till en fri, frisk experimentverkstad
för nya idéer och nya material.

Nya produkter i färgglada, frestande, köpstimulerande
förpackningar drog i gång en utveckling, som satte spår
i glasförsäljningen över hela världen.

Men fantasin och skaparglädjen har ändå aldrig hindrat
att Boda hela tiden stått stadigt med båda benen på jorden.
Ty visserligen blixtrar idéerna, men de är alltid
tryggt förankrade i enkla mänskliga behov.
Behovet av skönhet. Behovet av funktionella produkter för hem och hushåll.

Boda. The glassworks that was reborn.

It was established in 1864 by several master glassblowers
from Kosta who wanted to set up on their own.

For about a hundred years, Boda was one glassworks
among many that produced conventional glass services
for use in homes and restaurants.

And then the winds of change blew hard through Boda,
and the glassworks was reborn.

Daring young designers made the crystal ring
and Boda was transformed overnight into a fresh, free experimental workshop for new ideas and new materials.

New products in colourful, attractive, stimulating packaging sparked a development that has left its imprint
on glass marketing throughout the world.

But imagination and the joys of creativity have never prevented Boda from keeping both feet planted solidly on earth.
For the brilliant ideas embodied in Boda glass
are firmly rooted in simple human needs.
The need for beauty. And the need for functional products for home and household.

Ateljéglas är glaskonstverk som framställs i en begränsad upplaga och där varje exemplar är signerat av konstnären.

En pjäs kan aldrig bli en annan helt lik, trots att grundformen är densamma. Ateljé-glaset skapas ju för hand i hyttan. Det munblåses av mästaren och formas av yrkesskickliga händer efter konstnärens intentioner.

Man skulle kunna säga, att ateljé-glaset är ett mellanting mellan unika glaspjäser och serietillverkade.

Studioglass is a piece of art produced in a limited edition, each piece being individually signed by the artist.

No pieces are alike although the original shapes are the same. Studioglass is handmade and formed by the glassmaster's skilled hand, after the intentions of the artist.

One could say that studioglass is in between a unique piece of glass and a piece of glass in normal production.
